Advance Guard of Grand Lodge Delegates to Arrive Here Monday—Dance at Masonic Temple on Monday Evening.

Kentucky Odd Fellows will hold their annual Grand Lodge session in the city of Maysville next week beginning on Monday morning. All sessions of the Grand Lodge will be held at the Washington Opera House.

The advance guard composed of all Grand Lodge officers and committee men and several early delegates will arrive here Monday and on Monday evening at the Masonic Temple the two local Odd Fellow Lodges will give a reception and dance in honor of the Grand Lodge officers. To this dance and reception, all Odd Fellows and their families are invited. Admission will be by card which may be obtained by any member of the General Committee.

At 9 o'clock Tuesday morning there will be an open session of welcome just preceding the opening of the Grand Lodge at which addresses of welcome will be made on behalf of the city and local Odd Fellows and a response will be made. There will be a concert by our famous Kentucky Cardinal Band as well. The Grand Lodge will be opened promptly at 11 o'clock and continue in session until Wednesday evening.

It is expected that more than five hundred delegates will be in attendance from every community in Kentucky. Headquarters of the General Committee will be at the Central Hotel where all delegates will be registered. Open house will be kept at both local Odd Fellows' buildings during the three days. Local committees will do all within their power to make the visitors welcome and the entertainment aside from the reception and dance will include a free picture show and free admission to the Corn and Tobacco Fair.

WIFE USES CLUB AND KNIFE, SAYS LANE

Manchester Man Says Wife Cruelly Mistreated Him With Weapons.

Charging that his wife has been guilty of extreme cruelty toward him, George W. Lane, of Manchester, Ohio, through his attorney A. Harmon Holderness, has filed suit for divorce against Amanda Lane at West Union, Ohio.

In his petition the plaintiff alleges that one day last June the defendant struck him with a club several times on the head and body, seriously injuring him and striking with such force and violence that while he was trying to protect his head by throwing up his hands to catch and hold the club, one of his fingers was broken by the force of one of the blows. The plaintiff further says that upon another occasion prior to this, the defendant assaulted him with a knife and also a club, cut him in the hip with knife, run him out of his home, followed him and struck him on the head with a large club, badly bruising him.

MRS. ALICE ORR IS COMPLIMENTED BY PRESIDENT HARDING

Sister of Mr. Chas. Dobyns, of this City, Who Has Taught School for Fifty Years Received Letter From President.

The following from the Birmingham Age-Herald will interest many friends of Mrs. Orr, who is a sister of Mr. C. C. Dobyns, of the Limestone Lumber Company:

One of the most graceful compliments which President Harding has paid to any one in Birmingham is the letter which was received yesterday by Mrs. Alice D. Orr, beloved Birmingham teacher.

On the memorable occasion when President and Mrs. Harding were the guests of Birmingham, when the great semi-centennial celebration was in progress, Mrs. Orr was also celebrating her semi-centennial as a teacher and on that occasion when The Age-Herald presented in its semi-centennial edition the front page of the President's own paper, the Marion Star, printed in full on its front page, it also contained a story by Dolly Dalrymple, recounting the 50 years of service that Mrs. Orr had given to teaching.

The President expressed himself during his visit as being delighted with the cleverness and the progressiveness of The Age-Herald in reproducing his own home paper, and he evidently commended other features of the paper at that time also, one of which was Dolly Dalrymple's story about Mrs. Orr.

The President's letter, received yesterday by Mrs. Orr, verifies this, for he was pleasantly enough impressed with the Dolly Dalrymple story, which recounted the splendid achievements of Mrs. Orr, now in her seventy-ninth year, to take the time to write Mrs. Orr a most gracious letter, which follows:

THE WHITE HOUSE WASHINGTON

November 4, 1921.

My dear Mrs. Orr: The other day when I was in Birmingham I noticed in the Age-Herald the story of your semi-centennial anniversary as a school teacher, and the interesting account of your long career of usefulness in that capacity, as published in the Age-Herald.

I just want to write a word to congratulate you, and to thank you for what you have been doing. I hope you will be able, as I know you will be desirous, to continue the same career for many years to come.

Very sincerely,
WARREN G. HARDING.

Mrs. Alice D. Orr, c/o The Birmingham Age-Herald Birmingham, Alabama.

Mrs. Orr at once read the letter to her little school, and the 16 bright happy faces shown with delight as they heard from the President of the United States his congratulations to Mrs. Orr upon her semi-centennial as a teacher, and his felicitations upon her worthy work.

THREE LOCAL STORES ENTERED BY THIEVES DURING LAST NIGHT

Williams Drug Store, Briskols Furniture Store and Young's Racket Store Ransacked By Thieves During the Night.

Sometime during Friday night or early Saturday morning thieves entered and ransacked three of the city's largest retail establishments but in none of the business houses did the thieves find enough loot to pay them for their troubles.

The M. F. Williams Drug Store at Third and Market street was entered evidently by someone who was prepared for the business. A corner in the large plate glass in the rear door on the Market street side of the building was cut apparently by a glass cutter. This enabled the thief to get his hand through, turn the latch and lift the bar thus gaining an entrance.

Mr. Williams has found nothing missing except a few pieces of jewelry taken from a show case. Governor W. H. Cox whose office is in this store, found his desk rifled and a Mexican dollar missing. His papers were scattered about the desk and an attempt had been made to open his safe but it was unsuccessful. The outer doors of the safe, Mr. Cox leaves open, but the thieves had attempted to open the inner steel doors and had failed. No money was found in the store's cash register.

Entrance to the Briskols furniture store was gained by raising a rear window. Here the cash drawer was rifled and about $16 in cash taken. The safe in this store also was tampered with. It was entirely open but the thieves pried the door off the "strong box" in the safe but found nothing but papers which they did not molest.

At Young's Racket store entrance was also gained by opening a rear window. The cash register at this store was not opened. Because of the large and varied stock Mr. Young, the proprietor, is unable to tell whether the thieves took any merchandise or not.

The sum gives 500,000 times more light than the moon.

BILLBOARD PAYS MORE COMPLIMENT TO OUR BAND

Cincinnati Theatrical Paper Has More Good Things to Say About Maysville Boys' Band and Management.

The following is from this week's issue of The Billboard:

During the season just past Maysville, Ky., has received more advertising — and highly desirable advertising, too — than in all the previous years of its existence. This result has been brought about through the Boys' Band, which has become known as "The Million-Dollar Band from the Bluegrass of Old Kentucky."

And the Boys' Band owes much of its fame to Col. J. Harbourn Russell, who organized the band in February, 1919.

Col. Russell is an interesting personality — genial, full of enthusiasm, thorough showman and practical business man. Although one of the leading members of a firm of wholesale grocers in Maysville, Col. Russell finds time to manage Washington Theater, a motion picture house; to manage the Boys' Band and take them on tour each summer, and just recently he had been made president of the Maysville Country Club. The mere enumeration of these varied activities can convey but a faint idea of the seemingly inexhaustible energy of Col. Russell.

The band, mention of which was made in these columns some time ago, is made up of thirty-three youngsters of school age, and for that reason their touring season is confined to the summer months. During school months they play only locally — no event of importance in Maysville would be incomplete without the Boys' Band.

Colonel Russell was a caller at the home office of The Billboard a few days ago while in Cincinnati selecting some feature films for his theater. Incidentally, Mrs. Russell is largely relied upon to select the picture programs for the Washington, and that they are of uniformly high excellence speaks well for her judgment.

Gordon Boughton has been elected president, and Earl Jones secretary and treasurer of the class of second year intermediate boys of the Christian church Bible school.

VAUDEVILLE ACTS AT TOBACCO FAIR ARE OF HIGHEST CLASS

Four Vaudeville Acts and Band Concerts Will Be Features of Entertainment at the Corn and Tobacco Fair Next Week.

Arrangements are now being made by the committees in charge of the Corn and Tobacco Fair for the receipt of entries. Entry clerks will be at the Liberty warehouse to receive all entries on Monday from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. and on Tuesday from 5 to 11 a. m. Tobacco entries will be received at any time up to Thursday noon and these entries will not be put on exhibit until they have been judged and the ribbons have been tied by the judges.

The entertainment feature of the fair will be bigger and better than ever this year. Four high class vaudeville acts from the best circuit in the country have been procured for the week. These acts will first be seen on the great stage on Tuesday afternoon and thereafter once each afternoon and evening during the week, with a change of program each day.

The vaudeville acts are (1) Lester Lamotte, female impersonator; (2) Lewis and Kline, harmony singing and comedy sayings; (3) Rosita and Hingham, musical treat; (4) Erickson & Co., iron jaw novelty, strong man and woman.

There will be a dance at the Liberty each evening during the fair from 9 to 12 and on Friday evening the big Grand Ball from 9 to 12.

NOTICE ODD FELLOWS.

Cards for the Reception and Dance to be given on Monday evening at the Masonic Temple may be obtained from any member of the Committee: Dr. J. A. Dodson, John Fausler, C. P. Dietrich, Frank S. LAYTON HOLDS CLINIC ON MATERNITY BILL.

One of the most interesting contributions to the Congressional debates of the past two years on current legislation is to be found in the address made by Congressman Layton, of Delaware, November 1, in which he pointed out what he deemed inequities of the Sheppard-Towner maternity bill, now pending. "The most enthusiastic supporter of this bill in this body will not, I suspect, have the temerity to attempt to impose upon the credulity of its membership by asserting seriously that its provisions are not socialistic through and through," he declared.

Dr. Layton then invited impartial and judicial consideration of the published statements which have been made by its chief propagandists and referred to quotations taken from official publications issued by the Children's Bureau of this Government and endorsed by its President, (the preceding Administration) and members as well as by men and women who belong to these propagandists. He cited specifically a pamphlet edited by Henry J. Harris, of the Children's Bureau, entitled "Maternity Benefit System in Certain Foreign Countries," disseminated at taxpayers' expense and endorsing the doctrines of Madame Kollontai the head of the Russian maternity system, and the associate of Lenin and Trotsky.

Paying his respects to "a Miss Lathrop, a Miss Todd, a Miss Rankin, or a Miss Paul," Dr. Layton asked what they can possibly know about maternity matters, and in another place he said: "In general terms, and summarizing what has gone before, these theorists . . . take the ground that the Nation has the right to make itself the guardian of all of the children of the Nation, and that the children themselves shall be the Nation's wards. This supervision goes to the extent of assuming the right to regulate the food and the clothes and the housing and the education of the children; the right of the Government to establish a system of eugenics; the regulation by law of marriage by Government selection of bride and groom. This is the crazy notion of theorists who apply to humanity the practices of a stock breeder."

It is doubtful if in the entire history of this country any bill providing such legalized interference with family relations and state control of the most sacred function of marriage has heretofore been attempted. "If such a bill as this is to pass," concluded Dr. Layton, "it ought to be so amended that no man can hold a position under it who has not felt the compelling obligations and responsibilities of fatherhood, and no woman who has not had a baby of her own, thereby getting a little motherly experience before she endeavors to interfere with other women's babies. As a physician I can assert most positively that if such a requirement was made at least the proponents of this measure would scatter like mist before the morning sun." "Whatever one's opinion of the desirability of child welfare legislation, Dr. Layton's speech presents many viewpoints and facts that are interesting. A copy of it can be secured by writing him at his Washington office.

THE PREMIERS ARE COMING.

It is a matter of congratulation that the British and French premiers are to represent their countries at the Washington conference. Were officials of less rank to head the two delegations, there would be the necessity of referring important decisions to the home government for final action, with consequent delay and the impossibility of communicating by cable at all of the atmosphere that will surround the discussions. The reputed "wizardry" of Mr. Lloyd George will have no terrors for the American delegation. They have no personal ambitions to serve, their sole thought being to the success of the conference so far as that may be attained without surrender of American rights. Unfortunately, as much cannot be said of the head of the American delegation to the Paris peace conference, who promptly revealed his paramount ambition to his foreign colleagues, and they as promptly used it for the purpose of winning concessions for all of their own pet projects.

A VICIOUS POLICY.

The Swiss parliament has already granted 50,000,000 francs for the payment of unemployment doles and for the execution of various public works to aid the jobless. Now the government is asking for 86,000,000 more francs for the same purposes. Reports from Bern are to the effect that there are seven times as many men out of employment in Switzerland now as there were a year ago. Quite likely the numbers of jobless will increase just as long as the government continues its policy of distributing charity among them. The nation that takes money from one class of its people and hands it to another can never bring contentment to its citizens.

FIXED RATES.

Frequently some one raises the question why the government should undertake to fix freight rates that will yield the railroads an estimated average revenue of five and one-half per cent, when it does not undertake to assure any other industry such a return, on an average. The answer is that railroading is the only industry for which the government limits rates, and if the government limits rates on the one hand, it is honor bound to make the rates adequate to return a fair income on the investment.

HOME BREW, HOOCH AND MOONSHINE.

Home Brew Tester. The latest profession Prohibition has brought to the fore is the "home brew tester." And take it from him, he is one busy man in New York City. His name is kept a secret among his clients, but he is well advertised by word of mouth. The "tester" is a chemist, who undertakes to test for alcoholic or other content the various and sundry brews that have been concocted. He tells whether it is safe to sample them or whether that headache and depressed feeling is due to a pot recipe.

Wine Saves Home. A barn and outbuildings valued at $10,000 on the farm of Gilbert Beem, near Carlisle, Pa., had been destroyed by fire, which was spreading to the main house, when elderberry wine was thrown on the flames instead of water. Forty barrels of the wine were sufficient to extinguish the fire and save the home.

Some Capably. Avery Hopwood, the dramatist, met an old Southerner on a boat coming from France recently, who told him he had fought through the Civil War on the Confederate side. Quizzing him as to his rank, Hopwood asked: "What was your official capacity in those days?" "About three quarts," was the prompt reply.

A Close Shave. Military police of the First Division, stationed at Camp Dix, N. J., who have been accustomed to patronizing Sergeant George Harding, the chief barber, were forced to fall back on their safety razors one day not long ago when the tonsorial chief was taken up as a bootlegger. Harding was on his motorcycle, with sidecar attachment, carrying supplies to the camp barber shop. He was forced to take the ditch by a passing motor car and the bay rum, face lotion and hair tonic bottles were broken. A special prohibition agent, who went to his aid, decided he had captured a moving saloon when he smelled the many odors and arrested Harding on suspicion.

Refillable Bottles. A freight car from New York, billed as containing thirty-four cases of automobile tubes, was seized in Chicago a few days ago by the Prohibition enforcement officers, when it was discovered that the "tubes" were 1,500 quarts of whiskey. The suspicious actions of a man named "Warner," who was watching the car, directed the attention of the officers to it.

Two of a Kind. Ted—There comes a fellow who's always blowing about the big fish he's caught. Ned—Let's introduce him to your friend who's always bragging how cheap he got a case of real whisky for last week, but never offers to give us a drink.

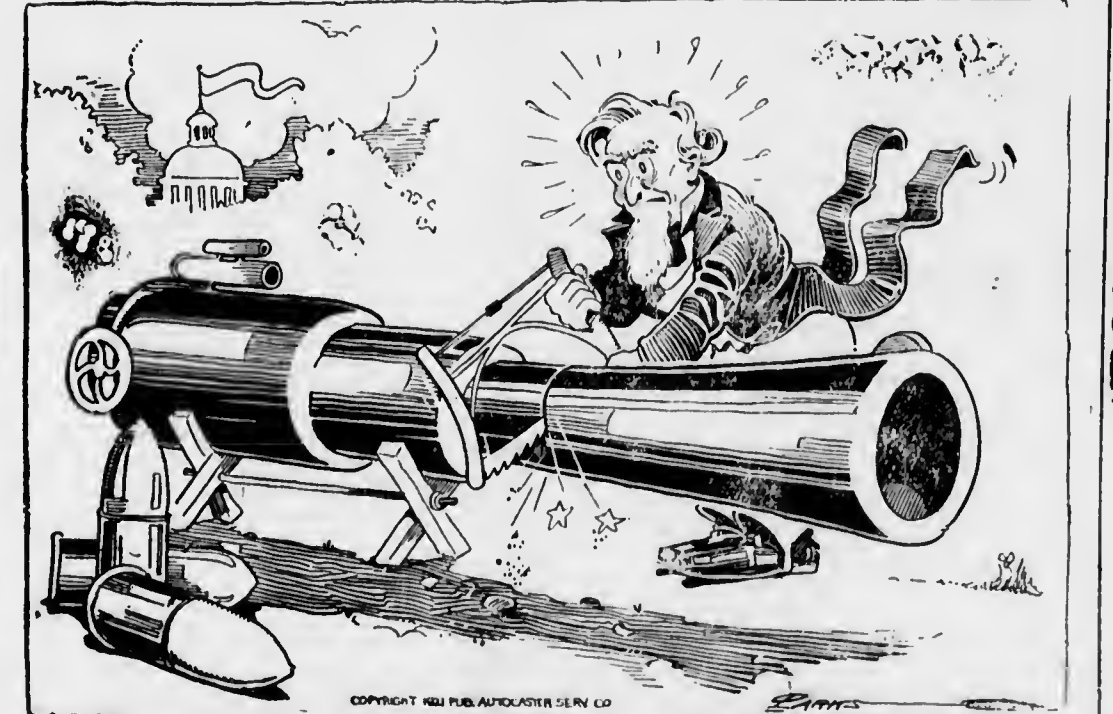

Supply and Demand. "They get after the poor landlord," is the wall of one landlord in New York City, "while they let the bootleggers charge all the traffic will bear. They won't let me double my rent but they'll let a man sell a bottle of booze he gets at $5 for any amount of money—and $25 to $35 is no unusual price. 'Taint right is all I have to say."

New York Letter

New York. — Certain New York business houses have gone in for flowers to a degree one would never have expected of coldly commercial institutions. Window boxes spreading vines and color all over stone exteriors bloom at the way up Fifth avenue and along the cross streets. Pretty soon, they'll probably glow from the stock exchange abutments. One busy man has risen to protest against the custom. He had a wedding anniversary and wanted some roses for his wife. "I got off the street car three times on the way home at what I thought were florists' windows, and every one of them was a restaurant or an exclusive millinery shop," he explained aggrievedly.

Policewomen shouldn't be attractive and youthful. They aren't expected to be and it's confusing. John Steven, insurance broker, queried "Lonesome, dearie," to a young woman whom he also called "Little Queen of Sheba," and the next minute he had fallen to his knees from a simple twist of her slender white wrist. Then he followed dmeekly to the police court, under bonafide arrest. For Rose Rosenberg, the "Little queen," is officially attached to the fifth deputy commissioner's office, and had the power of authority as well as of Jiu Jitsu. Now Mr. Steven will be discouraged from ever even glancing at another fetching young person so long as he lives.

"Can you give a girl a job?" is the intensive and extensive question asked by the New York City Young Women's Christian Association these days. The Association is conducting a drive to find work for the unemployed women of the city and its registration bureau are busy. They have also sent a massive petition to Secretary Hoover asking for special consideration for unemployed women. Then per cent. more women are looking for jobs than were doing so one year ago, according to the Y. W. employment bureau. "The situation is serious," said Miss Dorothy P. Wells, director of that department of the Central branch where 3,000 girls applied for work last month. "There has been a great increase in our social service cases, because the girls who have been out of work for some time have reached close to the end of their resources. Unless conditions change, there will be actual distress this winter." Mrs. Rosalie Loew Whitney, of the State Industrial Commission, says it is the "white collared woman" who is seeking employment in the largest numbers. Mrs. Albert Hutchinson is chairman of the committee of the Y. W. which is surveying business conditions. Mrs. William Pellos Morgan is aiding actively in the drive to find work for all groups of girls and women.

Red brick, light stucco and thatched roofs are turning a section of Far Rockaway into an Elizabethan village—with modern plumbing. Another group of French-style country houses is to be erected, so that we will have Europe and the Isles close at hand.

Eugene O'Neill has undoubtedly touched the high point of his career to this time in the writing of "Anna Christie." It is realism—and realism that includes the underworld, and yet it completely escapes, the dreary sordidness of so many plays that strive for that realism. He has admitted that humor, even comedy, can exist in life along with its tragedies—and almost always does. And he has admitted further that there ARE possibilities in life for anyone regardless of the depths they touch. This is something that many of the Broadway "realists" refuse to concede.

The acting of Pauline Lord as "Anna Christie" and George Marion, as her father, the burgo captain, is perfect. That sounds like kush, I know. But perfect is exactly what it is. The production is an achievement.

Sunset beams can come from the east perfectly well if one is ingenious; and New York apartment dwellers have to be ingenious in order to get any sunshine at all. One of them has solved the problem in a way that is being copied by all of his neighborhood. Like the magic of our childhood days, it is done with mirrors. He has run a projection out of a north window which never did let in any sun, and turned a good big mirror toward the open space to the west. Sunshine in a broad streak brightens his living room every afternoon from 4 o'clock on.

FARM AND HOME NEWS FROM OVER KENTUCKY.

The drive to eradicate cattle tuberculosis in Crittenden county herds is making rapid progress, according to a report from County Agent John H. Spencer. Three hundred sixteen animals in 15 herds of the county already have been tested and plans are being made to extend the work to every herd in the county, according to the report.

Many Morgan county farmers are trying out Ashland, the new pedigreed variety of wheat developed by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, in their planting this fall, a report from County Agent H. H. Rankin states. Eighteen farmers have sown more than 150 acres of their wheat land to the new variety.

Cliff Hudson, a Fleming county farmer, has just started a fertilizer demonstration in cooperation with the College of Agriculture extension division and County Agent H. F. Kenney which is expected to answer many questions of soil fertility for farmers in that section. Six one-tenth acre plots in the center of his wheat field will be treated respectively with limestone, limestone and acid phosphate; limestone, acid phosphate and manure; acid phosphate and manure, and manure alone.

—O—
Twenty-four Morgan county poultry raisers have entered their flocks in the winter egg laying project which will be conducted during the coming six months by the extension division of the College of Agriculture, according to a report of County Agent R. H. Rankin. Improvement of poultry housing and feeding methods is expected to result from the project.

—O—
Plans are already being made in Webster county for the continuation of the county poultry standardization work next year, according to a report from County Agent L. E. Cutler. One bank has agreed to put out as many settings of White Wyandotte eggs as possible in order to further the movement to put purchased birds of this variety on farms of the county.

—O—
Forty-five Fayette county farmers have entered their flocks in the winter egg laying project which has been started over the State by the extension division of the College of Agriculture, according to a report of County Agent R. Gabbert.

SUCCESS OF PILET SALES BOOSTS POULTRY INDUSTRY.

Lexington, Ky. — Efforts of those interested in the Kentucky poultry industry to blanket farms of the state with improved stock by means of the county standardization campaign being conducted by the College of Agriculture extension division, are proving highly successful, a total of 2,261 pilet sales having been made in the first six of the 20 pilet auctions scheduled as a part of the campaign, according to a report from the college.

Four White Plymouth Rock, one Barred Plymouth Rock and one White Wyandotte sale are included in the first six, a total of $3,473.50 having been received for the 2,261 pilet sales. In the four White Plymouth Rock sales 1,731 birds sold for a total of $2,407.50. In the single Barred Plymouth Rock sale 216 birds sold for a total of $4,108.50 while the one White Wyandotte sale resulted in the sale of 214 pilet sales for a total of $355.

As a part of the campaign to standardize each county of the state with one of the four main varieties of poultry, the pilet auctions are designed to repay banks which advanced money for the purchase of hatchling eggs and at the same time make it possible for farmers of the state to obtain improved stock at a reasonable price. Farmers who received purchased hatchling eggs in the spring through the cooperation of interested banks return one pilet for each setting of eggs, the money from the sale of these pilet sales being used to repay the banks. Two sales will mark the end of the year's work in the campaign.

Results of the first few sales indicate that the remaining ones on the schedule of 20 will be successful, according to the college poultrymen. Those to be held in the future will be conducted in a manner similar to the first six, the pilet sales which are brought in being graded and then sold to the highest bidder.

Up to the present time the feature sale of the schedule has been held in Calloway county where 350 White Plymouth Rock pilet sales were sold for a total of $495. Thirty culis netted $14.55 while the addition of money which was paid for pilet sales not returned brought the total receipts of the sale near $617. Of this amount $500 was returned to the Murray bank the remainder going into the funds of the Calloway County Poultry Association which was organized at the time of the sale. Officers elected were: president, Mrs. I. T. Crawford; vice president, Mrs. O. T. Venable, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Cora Wal-drop. The association has about 50 members.

WATER SYSTEM SAVES RIPLEY HEAVY LOSS.

Many itiploy citizens, here yesterday, made statement that had the town not had a water system when fire destroyed the Linn store the night before the extent of the loss could not have been estimated. They commended the fire company for its work. They were quickly upon the scene, and four streams were turned upon the conflagration. The firemen were compelled to climb to the roof of adjoining buildings, where water was thrown into the building. They stated that the amount of water available and the way the department handled the conflagration was complimented by everybody.

FINAL HURLEY EFFORT ON MONDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1921.

Monday, November 14th at 12 o'clock midnight, the time for signing contracts pledging the 1921 crop closes. Contracts signed after that hour will not count in the effort to arrange for co-operative sales of the 1921 crop. In Mason county there are several hundred thousand pounds of tobacco which have not been pledged. Many of the holders of this tobacco are believers in the principles of the co-operative association and desire to associate themselves in this movement. To actually get their signatures to this contract requires the united efforts of every grower and every man interested in the success of this movement. The County Organization Committee, therefore, realizing fully all the work which has been done in Mason county to secure the approximately six millions already signed makes a last appeal to the growers that they sign this contract between the hours of 8 a. m. and 12 midnight on Monday, November 14, and urge upon their fellow growers who have not yet signed the contracts that they do so on that date.

Word has been received by the County Committee from the Central Organization Committee that the goal is in sight. The thousands of men who have given freely of their time and energy to bring success to this movement will have wasted their efforts unless the required 75% is secured throughout the district. There are places where the necessary amount has not been secured and to overbalance this loss, large producing counties such as Mason must pledge more than their 75%. In fact, all of the big producing counties should have at least 90% of their tobacco in the organization.

This is our last appeal. Let every man who is interested in the success of this movement and who desires to secure better prices for his tobacco sign the contract and forward same before the closing hour, either to the County Committee or to his Precinct Chairman. It may be impossible to see you again. Do something for yourself. Sign and send in your contract. Your failure may mean the failure of the whole movement, and the future distress of every tobacco grower.

THE COUNTY ORGANIZATION COMMITTEE.
